THE FIFTH SONG

*Five songs will I make to-day,
Five fine fairy songs for you,
One of silver, one of blue,
With five tunes for you to play.*

*They shall cheer you as you go,
Fairy songs men have not seen,
One of gold and one of green
With sweet notes for you to blow.*

*This shall be the last for you
Full of sounds that sweetest ring,
Coloured like an hour of spring:
Silver, green and white and blue.*
